Physicians For The Defense Answer, She Was Insane When She Shot Brown.

CALLED IT PUERPURAL INSANITY

Noted Washington Murder Case Is Drawing To A Close--- Experts For The Defense On The Stand Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—When the trial of Mrs. Annie H. Bradley for the killing of former Senator Brown of Utah was resumed today Judge Powers propounded the following hypothetical question to the experts for the defense, after he had presented a complete analysis of the case: "Assuming all these facts to be true what do you say as to whether at the time the fatal shot was fired the patient understood the nature of her act, and able to choose and distinguish right from wrong, and able to control herself to choose the right and avoid wrong; whether or not she was mentally responsible for what she did, and whether she was sane or insane." Mrs. Bradley's name was not mentioned, but the facts were given as applying to a man 35 years of age, which is the prisoner's age.

NEW YORK STATE NOW WANTS 2 CENT RATE THAW TRIAL HAS BEEN CONTINUED

Hearings Will Be Heard of Railroad Men Who Oppose Flat Rate of Two Cents a Mile. [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Albany, N. Y., Nov. 25.—The efforts of the railroad operating in New York state to override the demand for 2-cent mileage are to form a subject of investigation by the public service commission. Representatives of all the roads have been summoned to appear before the commission today to show cause why they should not be directed by the commission to issue interchangeable mileage books of 1,000 and 500 miles at a uniform rate of 2 cents and without many of the restrictions now placed upon the sale of mileage books by some of the larger companies. A special effort will be made to abolish the practice of some of the roads of issuing mileage books at a higher rate than 2 cents and afterward giving rebates.

MURDERER OF WHITE WILL Face Another Jury to Determine Upon His Guilt or Innocence—Not Long Trial.

New York, Nov. 25.—Some time after Christmas Harry Kendall Thaw will be placed on trial for the second time, charged with the murder of Stanford White. A contingency arose to delay the case until after the holidays, but the attorneys for the young defendant are pressing for an early hearing and District Attorney Jerome has declared the prosecution ready. December 2 was agreed upon at a hearing before Justice Dowling last month and the Thaw case was regularly entered as the first case on the December calendar of the trial term of the Supreme Court but was continued today until January 2.

GOVERNOR ELECT A. E. WILLSON

Thaw, in his cell in the famous old "Tombs" prison, which he has occupied since the night of the tragedy on Madison Square Roof Garden, June 25, 1906, is planning for his second trial with the same confidence of acquittal that he prepared for the first ordeal. He daily advises with his counsel, chafes at the delays already encountered in getting his story before a second jury and is impatient for his days in court to begin.

This afternoon and evening there will be held the usual anniversary receptions and banquets by the Sons of the American Revolution and other patriotic bodies.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] New York, Nov. 25.—Andrew Carnegie today celebrated his seventieth birthday quietly in his Fifth avenue home with his wife and daughter. Some authorities give 1835 as the year of Mr. Carnegie's birth, but the famous philanthropist himself asserts that it was in 1837 that the light first came to his eyes over the hearth of his native Scotland. It appears today to be in his rugged health as if all his seventy years had been free and wild in the land of canoes by brae and burn, instead of amassing millions to give away with a conscience pang that it is not good to do rich. Mr. Carnegie continues to give away his millions in an endeavor to become poor, but each year he is finding it a more difficult matter to bestow his wealth judiciously. The gift of libraries was a great thing while it lasted and through this medium Mr. Carnegie managed to part from about $50,000,000. When nearly every place of consequence in the United States and Canada and many places in Europe as well had been supplied with libraries, the philanthropist-capitalist conceived the idea of the Carnegie Pension Fund for teachers in colleges and schools, which he endowed with $10,000,000. Then came the Carnegie Hero Fund, which afforded an outlet for several million dollars. Now, with his vast fortune ever increasing, Mr. Carnegie is at some what of a loss to find judicious outlets of philanthropy and beneficence anywhere near in proportion to his income. Though he has given millions away during the past twelve months, principally to colleges and universities, it is probable that he is richer than he was on his last birthday.

MIDDLE WEST HEARD FROM BY TREASURY DEPARTMENT

Want Steps Taken To Help Out Conditions Throughout The Great Wheat Growing District.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—Out from the middle west and northwest is coming a concerted demand that something be done by the government to put the finances of the country on a better basis. Senator Hiramway of Indiana called on Secretary Cortelyou this week to file complaints lodged with him by bankers of his state. Such banks as are depositors for internal revenue collections are required by law to remit their daily balances to the sub-treasury in New York. Instead of sending the actual cash, they have been in the habit of forwarding checks on their reserve agents in that city. In some cases the correspondent banks have refused to cash these checks, demanding that the actual cash be forwarded to the sub-treasury. As the government placed several million dollars with New York bankers to enable them to care for their outside correspondents, there is a likelihood that some of the Gotham money lords will receive a sharp warning from Mr. Cortelyou not to be too exacting in their demands upon the western banks. Senator Nelson of Minnesota and Senator Hammon of North Dakota also have appealed to the President for the deposit of government moneys in northwestern banks. According to Senator Hammon there are fully 150,000,000 bushels of grain now ready to be marketed in the two Dakotas and Minnesota, and if this vast amount of foodstuff was gotten under way, it would do more to relieve the stringency than any other one thing.

MAYOR ELECT JAS. F. GRINESTEAD

The republican party has redeemed itself in Kentucky, electing governor and an entire state ticket by substantial majorities in the recent election. This is just one of the vagaries of politics, for while the republicans were regarded as lost ground in one direction the democratic party was doing the same thing in others.

The new governor of Kentucky will be Augustus E. Willson. The new mayor of Louisville will be James F. Grinstead. Both are republicans and both were elected by good majorities. No election in the country is more significant than the election of these two men, for Kentucky has come to be a sort of political thermometer reflecting either republican or democratic success as it approaches throughout the nation.

Thoroughbreds Under the Hammer

THAW TRIAL HAS

the tragedy as a "brainstorm." The dark clouds had been gathering for a year or more, he declared, and when Thaw saw White "glowering" at him on the roof garden, at the first night of a summer extravaganza known as "Milo, Champagne," the storm broke and Thaw fled.

District Attorney Jerome combatted this plea with the testimony of seven experts, all of whom declared that Thaw's insanity was not such as to deprive him of knowledge as to the wrongful nature of his act. Notwithstanding this, however, they agreed with District Attorney Jerome that Thaw was medically insane not only at the time of the shooting, but throughout the trial, during which, they declared, he was unable intelligently to advise with counsel or to appreciate the character of the proceedings against him.

The trial was interrupted, it will be remembered, by the appointment of a commission at Mr. Jerome's suggestion to inquire into Thaw's mental condition. The commission agreed unanimously that Thaw was able to advise intelligently with counsel and to understand all of the proceedings in court. They examined the young millionaire both mentally and physically and he came out of the tests with flying colors. This tended to bear out the theory of the defense that Thaw had suffered from a "brainstorm" and that his condition had wonderfully improved during his stay in jail. It was contended that with the death of White the force which had fomented the disorder was removed and that the clouds of blind insanity had broken away.

When the trial was resumed, however, and the arguments were begun, Thaw's principal counsel, Delphin Dolman, who came with a brilliant reputation from the Pacific coast to take charge of the case, threw down the substantial structure of legal insanity which had been built up, tossed it "literally out of the window," and made his plea, unreservedly on the "unwritten law." He pictured with great oratorical effect "the wronged Evelyn" as "an angel child," Thaw alternately was a "Sir Galahad," or a "St. George" destroying the dragon. This line of argument gave District Attorney an unexpected advantage and he too disregarded the mass of testimony tending to show Thaw's mental irresponsibility, devoting himself to ridicule of the horrible crime in which Mr. Dolman had cast the defendant and his wife. Mr. Jerome declared the tragedy was nothing more than "a common, low, vulgar, Tenebris murder." To the jury he described Thaw as a "wild wretch," induced from his youth by wealthy parents and at last turned loose to "float his way through the Tenebris on $80,000 a year." The seemingly irrational writings of Thaw which were placed in evidence, were dismissed by Jerome as the work of a "rich filletate and nothing more."

District Attorney Jerome and Frank C. Graham, his first assistant, again will have charge of the prosecution, but Thaw has made an important change of attorneys. Replacing Mr. Dolman as chief counsel will be Martin W. Littleton, of Brooklyn. Mr. Littleton is known as a capable lawyer and brilliant orator. At the democratic national convention of 1904 it was he who nominated Alton B. Parker for the presidency. Mr. Littleton is a southern man, having been born in Tennessee just thirty-five years ago. He is what is generally termed a self-made man, having educated himself. He began the practice of law in 1891 and moving to Dallas, Texas, served there for a term as assistant prosecuting attorney. Later he removed to Brooklyn, and at once became a prominent figure in politics and at the bar. For four years he was assistant district attorney of Kings county and under the first McChesney administration in Greater New York was president of Brooklyn borough. Just who will be associated with Mr. Littleton may not be definitely known until the day the trial begins. At present Daniel O'Reilly and A. Russell Pondby are the only members of the former array of counsel credited with being in Thaw's service. Because of Thaw's impetuosity it was not always known during the former trial just who his attorneys might be the next day. The opening day of the coming trial undoubtedly will settle the matter, but understanding may exist among counsel as to the hope of the prisoner's friends that his cause may not be hampered this time by the wrangles among counsel which were frequent last winter.

There is much speculation as to whether or not Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, the schoolgirl-like figure about which the storm and tempest of the first trial beat its fury, will again take the stand in her husband's defense. A report has been current for some time that she will not, but the Thaw case always has been surrounded by every class of rumor and suggestion that human ingenuity can invent. A definite decision as to the matter of placing the girl upon the stand may not be arrived at until the trial has well under way. Without her testimony there would be difficulty in making out a case of emotional insanity—a defense which would have to be relied upon to gain Thaw absolution.

Rowing as a High School Sport. Appleton Post: The Oshkosh Northwestern recently suggested that rowing be added to the high school sports of such cities as Appleton, Oshkosh, Green Bay, Madison, Milwaukee and other places where there is water to be found for other purposes than drinking. Rowing is good, clean sport, and provided the young ideas were taught how to swim before being permitted to go near the water there would be less opportunity in it for broken bones, facial disfigurement and permanent lameness of the poorly gaited. The Northwestern's suggestion should have serious consideration from the schools.

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney nerves. The kidneys, and the organs that feed them, are the most important organs in the body, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

INSPECT THE M'LAY
CLYDESDALE HORSES

Party Comes from Washington State College at Pullman, South of Spokane, on Way to Chicago.

This afternoon five students from the Washington State College located at Pullman, just south of Spokane, are inspecting the sixty fine Clydesdale horses at the M'LAY Bros. farms near the city. The party is under the direction of Prof. W. A. Linklater, assistant professor of animal husbandry at the Washington State College, and are on their way to Chicago where they will attend the live-stock exhibit and will enter the stock-judging contests.

The team, which will represent the inland empire of the Pacific northwest, embracing 150,000 square miles in eastern Washington, northern Idaho, western Montana, northeastern Oregon and southeastern British Columbia, is composed of Louis L. Scott and Houston McCroskey, Garfield; George Farrand, Pullman; Floyd Radner, Ellensburg; and Harry Wilcox, Pullman. Professor Linklater and the team have also visited stock farms at South St. Paul and St. Cloud, Minn.; La Crosse, Madison and Beloit, and will go from here to Wayne and Watsela, Ill., the entire trip occupying a month.

"Our students have worked hard for these shows," said Professor Linklater, "and we are in hopes of carrying off some of the prizes, though we are not afraid of the fact that our boys will be pitted against the foremost collegians on the continent. We look upon these contests as being valuable, not only for what they represent, but they mean as much as six months' actual college work. Several members of the team participated in the stock show in connection with the Spokane Interstate fair and made highly creditable showings."

Tomorrow the M'lays expect a delegation from the Iowa state university who will visit the farms for the same purpose. While some twenty odd horses are entered at the coming exhibit in Chicago there is a possibility that the M'lay farm may not send any horses down, although this matter has not been definitely determined as yet.

COLOMBIA IS READY TO SAVE FORESTS

South American Republic Starts Upon a Forest Policy of Protecting Its Trees.

The world-wide movement for protecting forests and developing them has reached South America. The republic of Colombia has promulgated a decree regulating the use of its national forests and a translation has been sent to the United States by Consul L. A. Manning of Cartagena. It has been customary to consider the forests of the central and northern portions of South America as the forests of North America. It has been steadily shown that North America's woods were not inexhaustible and it appears that the businessness of South America are convinced that there are not, and measures have been taken to protect them. Colombia has entered upon a forest policy while it yet has plenty of timber. By using it wisely it will always have plenty. It is taking the "attach in time."

Contractors who cut cedar and mahogany from public lands in that country are required to plant young trees of the same species in the cut-over spaces. Lumbering and planting must be carried on side by side.

Much care is given the valuable rubber tree in the southern republic. In Colombia's national forests the rubber tapper is required to give the tree periods of rest, when he must bind up the wounds with wax or clay to exclude the air and prevent the wood from drying. The size of the incisions, and their location and number, are regulated by law. The tree is thus given a chance for its life. The forest produces, yet lives.

The Colombia regulations prohibit the cutting of immature trees for lumber. They must be ripe for the harvest. The saplings and sprouts, which will become trees, are carefully protected. The ivory-palm, the fruit of which furnishes vegetable ivory, must not be cut under any circumstances, nor must immature fruit be gathered. The value of this tree is in its fruit, not its wood.

Colombia has several species of trees chiefly valuable for the bark they produce. Peeling bark from standing trees is prohibited. This prevents waste. All the tree's bark must be taken, or none. The Colombia government does not propose that bark peelers in its forests shall take a little of the choicest bark and leave the rest to decay, even if there may be plenty more at present.

Forest resources in Colombia are great. The Magdalena and several broken rivers penetrate the timbered regions and provide hundreds of miles of navigable waters through primeval forests which cover thousands of square miles. With the rapid exhaustion of timber in regions

North-Western Road. Conductor Parry resumed work this morning on one of the work trains.

Engine 219, which was damaged in a collision with a freight car last Saturday morning, having the cab smashed in, was sent out on one of the work trains this morning in place of engine 323.

Conductor J. Doe and Engineer Walters went out on 582 yesterday in place of Conductor Boodle and Engineer Williams.

Conductor Zwieg and Engineer McMarrow went out on a "dead" freight yesterday afternoon to Chicago.

Concrete work on the arch over Western avenue will be commenced tomorrow.

St. Paul Road. Fireman Zahn went to Chicago Saturday night in place of Fireman Miller with Engineer Hawthorne on engine 1009.

Engine 1236 of the Plattville Shullsburg branch is in the roundhouse for repairs.

Engine 82 was used for switching in the yards yesterday in place of switch engine No. 3.

Because some of the flies in engine 519 broke while on the road near Juda last Saturday the engine had to abandon its trip, No. 10, at Juda and return to Janesville for repairs. Engine 535 on an extra freight west-bound came from South Wayne to Juda to pick up the freight and hauled the two trains to Mineral Point. Engineer Allen and Fireman Luttons were on engine 519.

In a recent Bulletin, the Pullman Land & Investment Co., St. Paul, Minn., owners of Minnesota, North Dakota and Montana lands, comment upon the great interest in these lands as an investment, and show WHY they are safest, possible, railroad building causing sharp advances in values. Conductors who cut cedar and mahogany from public lands in that country are required to plant young trees of the same species in the cut-over spaces. Lumbering and planting must be carried on side by side.

Much care is given the valuable rubber tree in the southern republic. In Colombia's national forests the rubber tapper is required to give the tree periods of rest, when he must bind up the wounds with wax or clay to exclude the air and prevent the wood from drying. The size of the incisions, and their location and number, are regulated by law. The tree is thus given a chance for its life. The forest produces, yet lives.

The Colombia regulations prohibit the cutting of immature trees for lumber. They must be ripe for the harvest. The saplings and sprouts, which will become trees, are carefully protected. The ivory-palm, the fruit of which furnishes vegetable ivory, must not be cut under any circumstances, nor must immature fruit be gathered. The value of this tree is in its fruit, not its wood.

Colombia has several species of trees chiefly valuable for the bark they produce. Peeling bark from standing trees is prohibited. This prevents waste. All the tree's bark must be taken, or none. The Colombia government does not propose that bark peelers in its forests shall take a little of the choicest bark and leave the rest to decay, even if there may be plenty more at present.

Forest resources in Colombia are great. The Magdalena and several broken rivers penetrate the timbered regions and provide hundreds of miles of navigable waters through primeval forests which cover thousands of square miles. With the rapid exhaustion of timber in regions

MINERAL WEALTH

The chief sources of wealth from which the nation derives its productive income are agriculture, manufacturing and minerals. These primary industries are fundamental to all else.
Their annual analysis is therefore of universal interest. The agricultural wealth of the country, which has been estimated in a preliminary way, must,
for this year's production, amount to $7,000,000,000. The latest figures of the value of mineral products are those of 1906. They give the total of metallic products of that year as $2,517,555. For 1907 it may easily be taken as $2,000,000,000. Manufacturing probably turns out a product valued at not less than $15,000,000,000.
These three branches of enterprise make a total of $24,000,000,000.Of course, in this estimate there are included agricultural and mineral products which enter into manufacturing. On that account there is some duplication in values. What is expenditure to one branch of industry is income to another. The chief value, however, of such totals is to show their growth from period to period.
The mineral products of the United States have increased more than five times in value since 1880, more than three times since 1890 and nearly twice since 1900. The rate of growth has been phenomenal. From 1900 to 1906, the mineral wealth produced has increased at the rate of $100,000, 000 a year. Twenty-six years ago the metallic products, including the precious metals, pig iron and others, were the larger item. But meanwhile the growth of non-metallic products has far outrun the metallic in value.
Out of the total of $1,902,000,000 in value in 1906, $1,016,000,000 were non-metallic products and $886,000,000 metallic products, or a proportion of 53 to 47 per cent. The baser things of the earth are of more value than the more cherished ones.

RESOLUTIONS

One of the results of the present
money stringency is found in the resolutions adopted by the board of directors of the National Association of credit men in their annual meeting at Indianapolis on Nov. 11.
The National Association of Credit Men, the largest commercial organization in the United States, with a membership of 2,000, representing a vast amount of capital invested in the manufacturing and mercantile business of the country, through its directors in meeting assembled at Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 11, 1907, affirms its implicit faith in the commercial integrity of the nation and in the business principles on which the affairs of the mercantile community are conducted; therefore be it Resolved, That from trustworthy trade and financial information, received from every section of the country, the association unhesitatingly declares general business conditions to be fundamentally sound, and believes that the present financial stringency of the currency, will be of short duration; and be it further Resolved, That the association calls on all its members to support one another in an effort to restore the confidence of the people so unnecessarily shaken at this moment, and to urge upon everyone the necessity of upholding business interests by depositing their money now, as in the past,
in the banks of their respective towns and cities, to the end that it may be used for its legitimate purposes, viz.,the carrying on of the vast business of the country; and be it further Resolved, That this association pledges every member to do all in his power to restore the confidence
of the public at large in the solvency
and prosperity of our nation.

CONSTITUTION OF OKLAHOMA

The railroad of Oklahoma are not as helpless under the two-cent fare prescribed by the constitution of the new state as has been supposed.
The framers of the constitution of Oklahoma appear to have been without a copy of the constitution of the United States for their guidance.
This antiquated document has not yet been repealed. Article XIV, of the amendments, ratified July 28, 1868, provides that "no state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privilege or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law."Article VI, of the constitution adopted in 1877, follows: "This constitution, and the law of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof, and all treaties made, or which shall be made under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land; and the judges in every state shall be bound thereby, anything in the constitution or laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding."
A state enactment prohibiting railroads from charging more than two cents a mile passenger fare, if it results in confiscation of property, is no less void, as contrary to the constitution of the United States, when embodied in the constitution of a state,
than it is when contained in a law enacted by a state legislature.

MISPLACED REFORM

The success with which a state legislature may miss the main point is well illustrated by the views of a dozen leading farmers of one of the more permanent cotton counties of North Carolina. These men were asked to express themselves regarding the passenger rate law on which the state legislature spent so little time and to the enforcement of which the state authorities meanwhile have been devoting their energies. The unanimous opinion, with one exception, seems to be that passenger rates were not the subject on which an issue should have been made, but that the farmers were much more generally interested in the readjustment of the freight conditions.The public, as well as the railroads, are much more directly interested in freight rates than they are in passenger rates. The misplacement of attention is partly due to the agitation of organizations of traveling salesmen who succeed in exaggerating the importance of their claims against the railroads.In electing Mr. Skaylen commissioner of highways the county board placed the work of constructing the rural roads in the hands of a man who will do his utmost to have Rock county noted for good roads as well as its crops. The two go hand in hand.Russia has paid off its last war debts, some twenty-four million for care of Russian Prisoners by Japan.
It is pretty hard to lose the men when they were needed most, but then to have to pay for their care by the Japanese is a little bit grinding.Local merchants have announced they will accept the local cashless checks and checks from banks within a radius of fifty miles. This shows that Rock county is not at all disturbed by the financial troubles of the world at large.The first Thanksgiving was held nearly three hundred years ago on the bleak coasts of New England.
Thursday, annual turkey day, will see the rejoicing across broader continents than the Puritans believed existed.Ducks and turkeys are being raffled nightly and many families will have fowls for dinner on Thanksgiving day won by the lucky hand of the household.Podiatricism is something that is more than a fad. It is one of nature's remedies known for centuries to cure the sluggish and torpid dispositions.The Park and Pleasure Drive association is a reality now and the next thing to do is to make the drives themselves and arrange the parks.

Resolved, That this association

his power to restore the confidence
of the public at large in the solvency
and prosperity of our nation.While Indian summer may not have made its appearance at its customed time the mild weather up to date has been much appreciated.Good roads will be appreciated by the farmers in hauling their sugar beets and tobacco to market during the coming winter months.There is nothing that pleases the people more than to hear the demagogue tell what ought to be done to the corporations.So Stutz's Pale Faces found that the Redskins can still work vengeance upon the usurper of their hunting ground.There is not so much talk about a war with Japan as there was when the Jingo papers had nothing else to

Is Money Tight With You?

If so, you will be pleased to note that your needs in the Dental line may be easily met.

If you select the Right Dentist.

Dr. Richards has built up the largest Dental practice in the city during the past 7 years.

By delivering three things.

1ST. PAINLESS DENTISTRY.

Just this A. M. one of the most prominent and influential citizens of Janesville consulted him and had an averted tooth extracted and said in departing:

"Dr. Richards, you did that very nicely and satisfactorily to me."

2NDLY. GOOD, HONEST WORK.

Time tells the tale in all things and time only shows up the durability of his work.

3RDLY. REASONABLE PRICES.

You no doubt have paid $10 each for those gold crowns in your mouth. Dr. Richards has put out hundreds in this city for just $5 each, and guarantees them to be the same in every respect—quality of gold, thickness of gold, purity, etc. etc.

What's the use of paying twice as much as necessary, when by consulting Dr. Richards you may get the same work at a less price and all done painlessly in the bargain.

SPAN OF MONTEREY BRIDGE GAVE WAY

Owing to the insecurity of the "False Work" Piles on Saturday—Closed to Traffic Seven Hours.

What promised to be a serious catastrophe for the C. & N. W. Ry. Co. at Monterey was narrowly averted on Saturday. The southernmost span of the railroad bridge, was a foot out of line and had sunk four inches when efforts at reinforcement were commenced. The weakening occurred at a pier which had been turned over to the Bates & Rogers Co. for rebuilding and the "false work" put in to sustain the span between was not equal to the emergency. Owing to the fact that a quantity of stone had been dumped into the river at that point the piles were not driven down to bed-rock and the lower ends of these supports, giving way under the strain, had commenced to move down river when the trouble was first noted. With all possible haste jacks were placed in position on the abandoned portion of the pier which had not been entirely dismantled and after several hours' labor the span was securely propped in position again. Meanwhile, from noon until 6:50 in the evening the bridge was impassable and all trains had to go by way of Afton and Beloit. Until the false work can be strengthened the Bates & Rogers operations, except on the arch, are at a standstill. Assistant Chief Engineer Finley of the C. & N. W. arrived here from Chicago today.

Gen. Brown, who is one of the leading donors in this part of the state has just received 150 tons of that beautiful Barrie granite and has now one of the largest and finest lots of monuments ever seen in Janesville, with all the very latest designs. Mr. Brown paid to a Gazette representative this morning that he can sell monuments at lower prices than any other dealer in the state. No stronger argument with low prices and good goods is necessary. He is showing some very fine monuments at $35 and up, and is selling markers as low as $3.00. Before buying elsewhere call and see the beautiful work they turn out at his shop, No. 162 West Milwaukee St.

It was brought down by Edward Purkey's rifle and he turned it over to Mr. Carter as he and Mayor Zull of Whitewater had decided to stay a few days longer. ## MERCHANTS AND MECHANICS SAVINGS BANK

Established 1876.

ODD LOT BUYING OF STOCKS GOES ON

TRANSFER BOOKS CONTAIN MORE STOCKHOLDERS THAN EVER.

RELIEF TO STRINGENCY

Numerous Currency Projects Submitted to President and Cortelyou—Interest in the Central Bank Idea.

New York, Nov. 25.—Investment buying in small lots of railroad and industrial securities in Wall street still continues in unprecedented volume, and stock transfer officers are overwhelmed with work transferring the names of new security holders.

This enormous odd lot buying, bringing as it does thousands of dollars into circulation, has been in progress for several weeks and is doing more than anything else, perhaps, to effect a relaxation in the stringent currency conditions.

Transfer books show a record-breaking number of stockholders, and in the case of the Northern Pacific railway the number of stockholders has more than doubled in the last six months. There are now 9,000 shareholders, while the transfer books six months ago showed only 4,200 names. Within the last half year the number of stockholders of the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad has leaped from 1,200 to 2,200.

Transfer Clerks Swamped.

The large number of new shareholders of Great Northern railway has swamped the transfer department of the company with work and figures of the increase of new shareholders are not obtainable, though Vice President Nichols stated Sunday that from November 1 to November 14, 1907, the books showed an increase of 488 per cent. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul took on over 1,200 stockholders in the six weeks preceding November 15.

James L. Carter, manager of the transfer department of J. P. Morgan & Co., states that there appears to be no diminution of the odd lot buying which has been in progress since stocks have fallen to bargain levels.

Many Currency Projects.

Washington, Nov. 25.—Details of many new projects for improving the currency are being submitted to the president and Secretary Cortelyou and are receiving such attention as the other exigencies of the financial situation permit. Secretary Cortelyou is a good listener and usually digests quickly essential points of the various plans which are submitted to him.

Measures relating directly to the currency which are being discussed among bankers and incoming members of congress may be roughly grouped under four heads—a central bank of issue, a central organization of the existing national banks, the issue of additional circulation against various classes of bonds other than United States bonds, and the issue of circulation upon general assets with the security of a guaranty fund.

Central Bank Advocated.

The project of a central bank, based upon the general outlines of the Bank of France or the Imperial Bank of Germany, has apparently been attracting more attention of late than at any previous time in recent years. Senator Hansbrough of North Dakota, who is a member of the finance committee, has announced that he will introduce a bill for such an institution.

Mr. Wexler, vice president of the Whitney-Central National bank of New Orleans, is openly in favor of a central bank and says that the New Orleans press, taught by the strain of the cotton situation, is generally with him.

Ridgely Changes Position.

Those who favor a central bank point to the recent crisis as the best evidence of the aid which it could have afforded had it been in operation. Their view is that the national banks would have been able to rediscount their paper at such an institution and obtain its notes to any amount necessary to relieve the strain. It is considered somewhat significant in some quarters that Mr. Ridgely, the controller of the currency, has just declared for a central bank of issue after having in previous reports recommended only a general credit currency for the existing banks.

The utterances of Mr. Ridgely are not, however, considered to commit the administration, since Treasurer Treat has a plan which he is advocating whenever he is invited to deliver a public address on the subject.

CLOCK STEADY AS THE SUN.

Wonderful Mechanism at the Case School at Cleveland.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 25.—A clock has just been installed in the observatory of the Case School of Applied Science in this city which is so nearly perfect that it has attracted the attention of the Smithsonian institute at Washington. As another mark of distinction tests have proved that the mechanism is so accurate that the clock will not vary more than 15 one-thousandths of a second from the exact time in 24 hours. This is considered to be nearly as steady and reliable as the sun itself.

The clock will measure the minutest fraction of a second. Its only rival in accuracy is said to be a similar timepiece in Berlin. The construction of the Case school clock is so delicate that for protection it is surrounded by a glass jar which is partly a vacuum. To protect the clock from disturbance the winding is accomplished by electricity. The instrument is used almost exclusively in astronomical observations.

CRUSADE IN NEW ORLEANS.

Prohibitionists and Liquor Dealers Seek to Reform the City.

New Orleans, Nov. 25.—With a "dry" New Orleans, as the alma of prohibitionists, and a reformed New Orleans the object of saloonkeepers, a crusade reflecting the prohibition movement in other parts of the south began here Sunday. Ministers in nearly all the city Protestant churches devoted part of their sermons to appeals for closing up the liquor traffic.

The announced plan of influential liquor dealers is first to force the resignation from the Louisiana Liquor league of objectionable members, and second to petition the city council to close up the saloons of such retired members. The closing of dives, especially negro resorts, is one of the objects of the liquor dealers. Another is to create such surroundings where drinks are sold as will minimize drunkenness and violence.

CRISIS SOON IN PORTUGAL

SIGNS THAT THE COUNTRY IS ON EVE OF REVOLUTION.

Entire Opposition to Franco's Dictatorship Now Turned in Direction of Republicanism.

Paris, Nov. 25.—Reports representing that Portugal is on the eve of a revolution are received here with caution, as dispatches coming directly from that country have been censored and those indirectly across the frontier are held more or less under suspicion.

Both the reports of the banishment of the crown prince and the mutiny of the fleet are denied by the Portuguese embassy here; nevertheless, the making of arrests, the suspension of a newspaper and the repressive measures which have been taken by what Premier Franco terms an administrative dictatorship, seem conclusive evidence that matters in Portugal have entered upon a critical phase.

This condition undoubtedly has been precipitated by the interview with King Carlos, which was published last week, in which he announced his absolute faith in Premier Franco and his intention to allow the premier to choose the time for the holding of the election of the cortes. The parliamentary opposition, which has been stirring up the country for months past, expected by a gigantic demonstration planned for January 2 next to force the king to dismiss Franco, but his majesty's bold endorsement of the dictatorship removes this hope abruptly, consolidating the entire opposition in the direction of republicanism.

Southern Lima, proprietor of the newspaper Vanguardia, of Lisbon, which was suppressed, is now in Paris and considers that a republic is inevitable and that the issue will be decided before January 1. He declares that the people are hostile to a dynasty and that the army is disaffected.

THAW CASE TO BE POSTPONED.

Second Trial Not Likely to Begin Until Late in January.

New York, Nov. 25.—The second trial of Harry Kendall Thaw, set for Monday of next week, will again be postponed, and there is little chance that it will be called until some date well along in January. The decision to ask for a postponement has been agreed to by both sides. It is due partly to the fact that the task of selecting a jury would be doubly hard by the approach of the holidays and the prospect before the taxpayers of spending both Christmas and New Year's day locked up under the care of court bailiffs, and also to the fact that Thaw's counsel has applied to the court for permission to inspect the recent evidence presented before the lunacy commission during the progress of the first trial.

An added cause for delay there is a rumor that the attorneys now representing Thaw may apply for a change of venue, declaring a fair trial for their client in New York county is impossible. Such a move, if made, would be based upon the alleged friendly attitude of many of the local papers and the extent to which the evidence was printed and read in this county. District Attorney Jerome will oppose the granting of a change.

MANY TEACHERS NEEDED.

Probably 300 Will Be Wanted Soon in the Philippines.

Washington, Nov. 25.—The bureau of insular affairs has received a telegram from the governor general of the Philippine islands indicating that probably 300 teachers will be required at the beginning of the next school year, which opens in June. These teachers will be selected from among those passing either the "teacher" or "assistant" examinations which are held semi-annually by the United States civil service commission. The "assistant" examination is of a higher grade than that for teacher, and appeals more to those having the benefit of college or university training. Special examinations will be given during the Christmas holidays. This examination will be open to the wives, fiancées and other women who are near relatives of those already in the service or candidates for positions as teachers. The age limits are 20 and 40 years. Most of the appointments will be made at the entrance salary of $1,200.

CUBA'S POPULATION ABOUT TWO MILLION

LITTLE INCREASE SHOWN IN THE LAST TWO YEARS.

FIGURES ARE DELAYED

Serious Illness of Gomez May Affect the Coming Elections—New Electoral Law Is Completed.

Havana, Nov. 25.—With the completion of enumeration of the population of Cuba there has been accomplished the first step in the direction of the termination of the American intervention and the reestablishment of the Cuban republic.

While officially described as a census, this enumeration was actually an enforced registration of votes, the determination of the population of the island being of scant importance compared to that of registering all persons entitled to the electoral franchise, in order to insure the purity of the election of the next Cuban president. No pains have been spared to accomplish this, but pending the difficult task of tabulating the results probably will not be known for some weeks. Taking precedence of all other features of the census is the preparation of the registration lists by municipalities and wards. These naturally will be subject to much revision, involving considerable delay.

Two Million Islanders.

An estimate by one of the most accomplished statisticians in the service of the provisional government places the population of the island at 2,000,000, of which about 400,000 are foreigners not entitled to the franchise. It is improbable that the present census will show any marked difference in the figures for 1905. Havana, Santa Clara and Camaguey provinces were the liberal strongholds and probably are now. They then contained about 180,000 voters. The indications are that there has been a great change in the political complexion of the provinces with the possible exception of Pinar del Rio, where the influence of the Pino Guera, the military leader of the last uprising, is very great.

Gomez Dangerously Sick.

An element that may prove to be of prime importance in the coming election is the health of Jose Miguel Gomez. It is rumored that the general is afflicted with a dangerous ailment which may compel his retirement from the field, in which event a reconciliation of the Mignellista and Zaylata factions is not improbable.

Coinciding with the completion of the enumeration is that of the new electoral law on the commission, at which Col. Crowder is the head, has been working for months. It now only awaits the approval of Gov. Magoo before being promulgated, so that if tranquillity is maintained nothing stands in the way of carrying out the present program of government, which is to hold the municipal elections in May or June and the presidential election in the following December, thus paving the way for the inauguration of the Cuban president in May and the withdrawal of the American troops in July if conditions should then make it certain that their presence was no longer needed.

OLD SORES FED AND KEPT OPEN BY IMPURITIES IN THE BLOOD

If Old Sores were due to outside influences, or if the cause was confined strictly to the diseased flesh around the ulcer, then external treatment and simple cleanliness would cure them. But the trouble is in the blood, which has become unhealthy and diseased, and keeps the sore open by continually discharging into it the impurities and poisons with which the circulation is filled. This poisonous condition of the blood may be the result of some constitutional trouble; the effect of a long spell of sickness, or because the natural refuse of the body, which should pass off through the proper avenues, has been left in the system and absorbed into the blood. Again, the cause may be hereditary; but it does not matter how the poison becomes entrenched in the blood, the fact that the sore will not heal is evidence of a deep underlying cause. Salves, washes, lotions, etc., may cause the place to scab over temporarily, but the blood is not made any purer by such treatment, and soon the old inflammation and discharge will return and the sore be as bad or worse than before. S. S. S. goes down to the very bottom of the trouble, cleanses and purifies the blood, and makes a permanent cure. S. S. S. enriches and freshens the circulation so that instead of discharging unhealthy matter into the place, it carries rich, tissue-building, flesh-healing blood to the diseased parts and in every way assists in a natural cure of the sore. # His Courtship

By HELEN R. MARTIN,
Author "Tillie: A Mennonite Maid."

Copyright, 1907, by McClure, Phillips & Company, Inc.

"We need not discuss those things, I will not marry Abe."

Mrs. Morningstar stared at her uncomprehendingly. Eunice waited.

"What do you say?"

"I will not marry Abe."

"Och," the woman said impatiently, "what's the use of this time away with purtendin' and talkin' so dummity?"

"I am feeling nothing. I would not dream of marrying Abe."

"Is it that you want to be coaxed or whatever?" Mrs. Morningstar demanded, an angry red in her cheeks. "There I am for stoppin' when it would come to coaxin'. I ain't coaxin' you any."

"It would be useless, certainly."

"What do you mean?" asked the woman, fairly bewildered at such unexpected and incredible behavior.

"Why should you think I want to marry Abe?" the girl suddenly asked.

"I have long wondered why you thought I must necessarily wish to—"

she hesitated an instant, while Mrs. Morningstar could only stare at her in blank amazement—"because," continued Eunice, "there is no fate which I would think more tragic than being married to your son."

"You ain't talkin' sincere!" the woman cried. "I'd like to know how you think you could do better or half as good?"

"I think I could not do worse."

"Couldn't do worse'n marry our Abe?"

The girl was patiently silent. Something convincing in her bearing made Mrs. Morningstar begin to suspect that she actually meant what she said, and even greater than her indignation at this unbecoming slight to her son was her sudden dread of having that $3,000 go out of the family.

"It's her thinkin' that there money's comin' to her makes her so sassy and high minded about Abe," she thought, "or maybe 'Don Muckelohny' got a chance to see her unbeknownst to me, and she thinks she'd be doin' better to take him."

"So this here's your gratefulness for all we done for you 'ready?" she upbraided the girl.

A look of weariness came into Eunice's eyes. She took up her lamp and turned away from the table.

"Who do you want to marry, then?" Mrs. Morningstar stopped her with the question.

"That is not a matter that it is necessary to discuss."

"Don't give me none of your back talk! And what do you do with that high language as if you was educated yet?"

Eunice did not answer.

"Is it 'Don Muckelohny' you're after?"

"He is not quite so objectionable as Abe, but I'm not after him."

Inasmuch as Eunice was considered by the Morningstars quite good enough for Ollie, this rejection of him by Eunice was an offense almost as great as her refusal of Abe.

"I'll tell you what!" Mrs. Morningstar harshly exclaimed. "You're after that there Doc Kinross; that's what I'll and you fix it up between you somehow, though for the life of me I don't see when, for you certainly ain't never out of my sight long enough to make up to no man. A body'd have to keep you locked up in a closet yet to keep the men away from you or contrivance to keep you from makin' eyes at the men and temptin' 'em! It's the $3,000 you think's comin' to you has made you all of a sudden so stuck up about our Abe! And now you think with all that money you kin marry a townier yet!"

A hot color burned in Eunice's cheeks, but she looked at Mrs. Morningstar steadily.

"Three thousand dollars coming to me? What do you mean?"

"You want to purtend you don't know yet!" the woman said sarcastically, though her eyes wavered from the girl's face doubtfully. Was it possible she did not know?

"Will you explain to me what you mean?" Eunice repeated.

"It ain't neither here nor there! I didn't mean nothin'. Is Doc Kinross sweet on you?"

The girl's lips quivered, and her eyes suddenly glistened with tears.

"Do you want to know what he thinks of me?" she asked, her voice vibrating with suppressed bitterness. "He thinks so poorly of me as to believe me capable of marrying Abe!"

Her hopeless tone implied that he could think no worse. Mrs. Morningstar was dumfounded. Such a view of Abe was incomprehensible. And that it should be held by this girl whom she scorned, seemed past belief.

And yet, deep down in her heart she knew that Eunice spoke sincerely; that passing strange as it seemed, she actually did not want to marry Abe.

CHAPTER XX.

KINROSS' telegram to Newport brought an immediate reply.

Miss Wolcott was at her summer home and would be there until late in the autumn.

Had time on his journey to reflect upon the episodes of the past few days with comparative coolness of judgment and to see some things with more clearness than on a first view; also the various developments of the summer appeared in somewhat different perspective now that he looked at them from a little distance.

"I want to that farm to find seclusion, quiet, a monastery that would leave me free to study, and what I fell into—plots and counterplots, with country courtships, disguises, a stolen infant, haunted chambers, murders, suicides, ghosts and a discovered heiress! Who'd 'a' thought it? I couldn't have found half so much excitement at Newport. Why, it's been a strain!"

He had been told before leaving the farm that his fellow boarders were to go back to town before his return. When he had paid his board Mrs. Morningstar, under the effect of his extra fees for her convincing in his disguise, had thrown so far as to volunteer the promise that she would account to the young ladies for his departure by saying that the farmhand had been discharged because of the inconvenient and unbecoming frequency of his headaches. He wondered whether in his absence any accidental hints would be dropped as to his pretended character. He could not think without a growing uneasiness of the fast approaching reopening of the college, when he would have to meet Miss Elroy and Miss Parks as Dr. Kinross of the faculty.

It was when he was nearing the end of his journey that some indistinct apprehensions (which had been vaguely troubling him) began to assume definite shape and the realization to dawn on him that perhaps he had been rash in coming away and leaving Eunice in ignorance, even for a week, of her possible good fortune. Goodness knows what she might do in this week of his absence. Abe was evidently very desperately in love with her, and the Morningstars, in their dire plight at being obliged to pay over to her that $3,000, might drive her to the point of marrying Abe in self defense, as it were. Of course it was only after her ignorance of life that made her tolerate Abe, though even that did not seem to excuse such bad taste. Fancy Miss Wolcott receiving Abe Morningstar as her nephew-in-law! The picture made him laugh aloud.

The wearing doubt as to whether Miss Wolcott could be brought to acknowledge Eunice as her niece and recognize her claims was never absent from his mind for an instant. At times he felt that he was going on a fool's errand. If, at the time the Daniels wrote to her, she had not even tried to see the child to prove or disprove their story, how could he hope that now, after all these years, she would concede what was so much against her own interests?

"If only I were a diplomat instead of a blunt, plain man! I might lead up to my story so prettily and persuasively that before she knew it she'd be burning to illustrate artistically the beauty of self sacrifice in her own person. But I know I'm make a muddle of it. 'Your money or your life?' That's more my style, more's the pity!"

He consoled himself with the reflection that if Eunice did not come into the money it would probably be far better for her, and it was only by reason of his sense of justice that he was trying to place her in command of the great wealth that belonged to her. He himself was remarkably free from the money madness of the age. He had always had more than enough for his needs, but not enough to spend his and and therefore gone through life, thus far, escaping the mania for accumulating wealth.

"Her money may quite spoil the attractiveness she now has in her simplicity, her perfect naturalness, when one is alone with her. Just the antipodes of Georgian! There couldn't be a more extreme contrast of character. Georgiana is a personified pose. If she ever did a spontaneous thing in my presence, ever made an unthought remark, I think I'd fall in love with her on the spot!"

It was at 5 o'clock on Sunday afternoon that he presented himself at the home of Miss Wolcott. He sent in his card and waited on the piazza, which was furnished like a sitting room and shaded by screens from the hot summer sun. His suspense as to the outcome of the impending interview made him too uneasy to sit still, and he paced the long porch in his nervousness, wondering for the hundredth time how he could most convincingly relate his story and trying to school himself against too great bluntness in the delicate matter he had to handle. He rather took it out of the porch furniture before Miss Wolcott made her appearance, for in striding about he pushed things ruthlessly out of his way, nearly upsetting a splendid legged table holding a slender vase of roses and making a stool nobly collide with another table covered with books and magazines.

A sudden switch of shifts in the doorway made him turn about at the end of the porch and come back quickly to meet the uncomfortably stout little woman who walked forward to greet him.

Though Miss Wolcott was gowned in the thinnest of white material she looked overhauled. Her complexion was distressingly florid, her movements were ungainly and her voice had an unpleasant sharpness. Kinross felt his already faint hopes fall him entirely as he realized the general hardness of her aspect. He planned his case upon what he believed he recognized in her countenance, in spite of its coloration—an brightness of character that perhaps justified, somewhat, her pride of blood.

Some Eastern Players Who Have Won National Fame.

BIGLOW, BRIDES, WISTER.

House of Carlisle and Erwin of West Point Are Also Placed High in Grid-Iron Public's Favor—Some Games They Shone In.

Five eastern football players have distinguished themselves of late to such an extent that if an all eastern team were to be chosen today they undoubtedly would be members of it. They are Brides and Biglow of Yale, Wister of Princeton, House of Carlisle and Erwin of West Point.

Captain Biglow and Wister were general All American team choices last year and are upholding their past reputations, but Brides, House and Erwin are new men in their positions for the first team in the land.

Brides by his end running and line plunging against Brown established a right to the distinction of being the best all round player in America. He was Yale's best guard, then the best end at New Haven and is now looked upon as a mainstay behind the line.

BITS OF HUMOR

HIS FIRST ESSAY.

"Vacation," wrote the boy in his first essay after returning to school, "is something that Russell Sage never takes because he is old enough not to have to go to skule any more."—Chicago Tribune.

OBITUARY NOTE.

Kwator—Aht yes, death is impartial. It seeks out the poor man and the rich man alike.

Wiseman—Not exactly alike. In the latter case it is usually accompanied by reporters.—Catholic Standard.

SMALL BOY'S POINT OF VIEW.

Mamma (to Bobby, who has been gazing intently at passing girls)—Isn't that a pretty girl, Bobby?

Bobby critically—She will be when she grows up.—Chicago Chronicle.

IDEAL WORSE THAN SHATTERED.

"And have you an ideal man, Miss Gladys?"

"I had an ideal, but he—"

"Your ideal has been shattered."

"Not exactly shattered, but he is broke."—Rochester Times-Democrat.

SISTER'S BEAU.

Please, Mr. Downy. If you'll give me a lock of your hair to make a paint brush with I'll paint your portrait in my book.

—Chicago Journal.

NEEDED IT.

Mr. Latours—My dears (hic), I had to work late (hic) on my books to (hic) get my balance.

Mrs. Latours—Such a pity you didn't bring it home with you.—Chicago Daily News.

UNFOUNDED RUMOR.

He—Some one has started the story that I have the big head. What do you think of it?

She—There's nothing in it.—Chicago Journal.

COMPETENT TO ADVISE.

Tourist (to Barly Bill, who has circumnavigated the globe scores of times)—I think Europe like you ought to travel a bit. It enlarges the mind.

"It did mine when I went to Dleppo last year."

JUST WHAT HE EXPECTED.

The Peddler—Let me show you these—

The Lady—Those last tablecloths you sold me are full of holes.

The Peddler—Yes, I thought you would need some more by this time.—Chicago Journal.

A NATURAL CONSEQUENCE.

He—And so they got married?

She—Yes, they got married, were separated again in a week's time, and have lived happily ever since.—Ally Sloper.

Great Combination Sale

Until we saw it in print we refused to believe that any brother merchant would cast ASPERSIONS at the Great Combination Sale. An ASPERSION is an awful thing to throw at anything, but doubly so to hurl an ASPERSION at the most successful Bargain Sale ever held in Janesville. It is like throwing toy darts against a stone wall to fire ASPERSIONS at this very "Gibraltar" of a Bargain Sale.

It is pure and simple: Just a Great Combination Sale to turn good goods of which we have an overstock into money, thus giving us more room to show the great shipments of new merchandise that are constantly arriving from the world's greatest markets. Women and men are finding no fault with the Great Combination Sale, which is attested to by the army of eager buyers that thronged to the Sale all last week, with a record breaking crowd Saturday and long into the evening. Let the Imitation Bargain Sales go on, let the mud be thrown; meanwhile the Great Combination Sale is working up a very avalanche of interest among all classes. A veritable land-slide of Bargains, of goods that have merit and quality, that is sweeping before it all memories of any previous bargain sale ever carried on in Janesville.
